U. S. ACTS IN FAR EAST CRISIS

Willkie To Make Campaign Talk In City

G. O. P. NOMINEE TO STOP HERE WHILE ON TOUR

Richland Republican Leaders Told of Decision to Be In Mansfield In October.

SCHEDULE NEW MEETINGS

Both Parties Organize For Intensive Drives; Seven Special Issues Up.

One of the liveliest political campaigns in Richland county history will bring most of the top-flight state and national candidates, including Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican candidate for president, to Mansfield for talks before the Nov. 5 election, party leaders announced today.

Willkie, now on a speaking tour of the western states, plans to include Mansfield in his itinerary, probably coming here late in October, Ralph Hardy, county G. O. P. executive chairman, said today.

The Republican presidential candidate may speak from the back of his train at a stop in Mansfield, or he may decide to make a talk at a rally in the city, Hardy said. Willkie told G. O. P. leaders his plans include at least one talk in the 17th district, which includes Richland county.

Hardy said county Republican leaders will meet Monday afternoon at Republican headquarters to map a speaking program for the county. Atty. J. V. Will is chairman of the program committee.

Martin L. Davey, Democratic candidate for governor, and Gov. John W. Bricker, seeking re-election on the Republican ticket, are scheduled for talks at rallies in Mansfield before election. Davey will launch a campaign to include every county in Ohio with a talk at McArthur in southern Ohio Saturday afternoon. He will talk at Jackson and Junction City later in the day and in Lancaster and Newark Monday night.

Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland, Republican candidate for U. S. senator, and John McSweeney, Wooster, the Democratic senatorial candidate, also will speak here in October or early November, party leaders said.

The two 17th district congress-

'HANDS OFF'

Madison School Heads Keep Out of Grid Squad Crisis.

Madison high school officials today adopted a "hands off" policy over the football squad crisis which left eight varsity gridders on the sidelines for the rest of the season.

Superintendent Olan LaRue and Principal Wayne E. Miller said they had no comment when asked whether they would back Coach Al Fendrick in his action in dropping the youngsters.

"We are keeping out of the affair. We believe Fendrick can handle the situation," LaRue said.

Fendrick dropped the eight players following their behavior after the opening game against Wooster high at Wooster Saturday night. He charged that the boys stole salt and pepper shakers and silverware from a restaurant.

British Steamer Flees Jap Guns on Yangtse River.

SHANGHAI —(INS)— The British merchant steamer Marie Moller was struck by a shell fired from a Japanese warship while she lay at anchor today in the Yangtse delta.

The steamer, a 493-ton coastal vessel, immediately got under way and sailed from the scene but was detained outside the delta by the Japanese.

Draft Board Head

According to word from Washington, Maj. Gen. Allen Gullion, above, judge advocate general of the army, and not Lieut. Col Lewis B. Hershey, will head the National Draft Board. Hershey, who has been executive officer of the joint army and navy selective service committee, will be named as assistant.

HOLD MARRIED MEN DRAFTABLE

Conscription Officials Reverse Earlier Ruling Exempting Them Automatically.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Reversing a previous opinion, selective service officials stated today that married men would not be deferred automatically as a class from compulsory training. While it was expected that most fathers and husbands would be deferred, the decisions must be made by local draft boards on the merits of each individual case, they said.

WASHINGTON — Administration plans for blanket exemption of married men from conscription during peacetime hit a snag today with discovery of a provision in the law which may send some of them to army camps.

Discovery of the clause by selective service lawyers caused a revision of the proof sheets of regulations which President Roosevelt will issue when he signs the executive order giving the regulations the force of law.

The provision is among the definitions in the law and reads:

"The term 'dependent' when used with respect to a person registered under the provisions of this act includes only an individual (1) who is dependent in fact on such person for support in a reasonable manner, and (2) whose support in such manner depends on income earned by such person in a business, occupation, or employment."

The definition of a dependent was formulated under plans for a draft law to be used in war time. But in this draft, because of the

McNutt Says GOP Ticket Offers "Terrifying Choice."

BALTIMORE—(AP)—Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator, told a political rally last night that the Republican national ticket represented a "terrifying choice" in "this uncertain world." He said presidential nominee Wendell Willkie daily was demonstrating his "inability to lead his own party."

SEND APPEALS TO 3,000 ON ROOF DRAINS

City Officials to First Ask Co-operation, Then Plan to 'Crack Down' on Requests.

INSPECTION TO BE MADE

Crafton Says Homes To Be Checked For Illegal Sewer Connections.

City officials next week will appeal to more than 3,000 property owners seeking their co-operation to help eliminate part of the city's water-in-the-basement trouble.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton said today that letters had been prepared and would be sent to property owners, listed in a recent survey, whose residences have roof drains illegally connected to the sanitary sewer system.

The three-page communication outlining the city's troubles resulting from such connections, will be mailed to the property owners next week asking them to co-operate by correcting the condition within 30 days.

Crafton said it may be a few months before a follow up check is made. After that, he said, the city plans to "crack down" by enforcing an ordinance prohibiting the illegal connections.

"Having in mind the health and welfare of our citizens, this leaves the officers of your city no alternative, except to insist on rigid enforcement of these ordinances," his letter says.

The communication to property owners will also be accompanied by a descriptive folder showing three different plans for disposing of roof water.

It points out that there is a possibility that the information had by the city may be incorrect and that in such case, the owners are asked to call Ray Hines, sewer inspector at City Hall, and a personal inspection of the connections will be made.

Crafton's appeal points out that the discharge of roof water into the sanitary sewers during rainy periods causes the sewers to surcharge, resulting in the flooding of basements in the city.

He also explained that the city has spent "thousands of dollars" in eliminating storm water from the sanitary sewers and that it is the recommendation of consulting engineers and the state department of health that the removal of roof drains from the sanitary system be completed before attempting to make improvements on any other part of the sewer system.

SHERIFF KILLED

Body Found in Road After Second Car Crash.

NEW PHILADELPHIA— (AP) — Sheriff Wayne T. Host, 48, of Tuscarawas county, was killed early today as his automobile struck a culvert six miles south of here, state highway patrolmen reported.

Host's body, his skull crushed, was found lying along the road after a car driven by Charles Greenlee, Uhrichsville merchant and former state representative, crashed into the wreckage of the sheriff's automobile.

Host, a candidate for re-election in November on the Democratic ticket, had served one term. His widow, a son and daughter, survive.

City Employes at Picnic, Softball 'Hero'

There were a lot of tired city employes last night but it was unanimously agreed today that everybody had a "swell time" at the first annual city employes picnic at North lake park yesterday afternoon. Feature event was a twin bill softball contest, city councilmen trimming both police and firemen, the top photograph shows several of the fair sex that witnessed council's double victory. They are left to right, Helen Baughman, police traffic clerk; Wanda Stuckey and Loretta Fink, health department clerks; Mrs. R. E. Rogers and Sybil Scott, nurses. Lower left shows Councilman Arthur L. Croak, who complained of a leg injury getting the "liniment treatment." Marjorie Palmer massages his "injured" member while Dairy Inspector Sam Young looks on. On the right is an action shot of council's 72-year-old veteran, C. N. Shultz, taking Mayor William J. Locke's toss, to make the first putout of the game. Lieut. Bruce Friday, the bluecoat pitcher, was the batter.

THREE POISONED

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Eugene Lloyd, 11, last night became Cleveland's third mushroom poisoning fatality of the week. Thirty cases have been reported here since Sept. 1. Health Commissioner Harold J. Knapp said.

Muscles Ache, Tummies Too, Following City Hall Picnic

Muscles ached at city hall today. . . . Charlie Shultz was being acclaimed a hero . . . there were some complaints of indigestion . . . and almost everybody was talking about what a good time they had.

It all resulted from the city employes' picnic at North Lake park yesterday afternoon when more than 100 city workers got together for eats and an afternoon of fun.

Highlight of the day was a softball tournament between teams from the police department, city council and the fire department. Councilmen took the championship honors and it was agreed that 72-year-old Councilman Shultz turned the trick.

The legislators enlisted three substitutes but turned back the policemen 5 to 4 in a contest that went into an extra inning, and then showed their superiority by trimming city firemen 5 to 4 in a three-inning affair.

Shultz, a veteran in council, sparked a batting attack in the third inning that paved the way for the lawmakers' victory. With council trailing 4 to 0 as they went into the final frame, Shultz bunted and beat the throw to first base.

This set off a rally in which his team mates pushed four runs across the plate.

Drenched with perspiration, Mayor William J. Locke, a stand in" for Russell D. Porch, held the cops to two hits in the fourth inning while council added the winning run. "Jim" Kuneman, sanitary officer, substituting for Shultz at first, singled to centerfield to score Councilman Jake Kutchall. Kutchall had doubled to left and then went to third on George (Connie Mack) Berg's single.

Paced by two home runs, by Detective Oscar Krupp and Patrolman Glenn Adams, police scored three runs in the third and one in the second inning.

Willkie Pledges Bolstering of Aviation; Roosevelt Speaks Today In Philadelphia

(By Associated Press)

ABOARD WILLKIE TRAIN, EN ROUTE TO SAN FRANCISCO—After calling for immediate, scientific tax revision and "a chance for business to make a profit," Wendell L. Willkie advocated today the development of American peacetime aviation into a major industry.

In a brief talk prepared for a trainside audience at Bakersfield, Calif., the Republican presidential nominee said:

"War planes? Yes! We must have them. We should have had them years ago. But great as is that need, the need of future peacetime aviation will be even greater.

"For it is the permanence of peacetime aviation—not the temporary emergency of preparedness—that will bring this nation into its rightful position of leadership in world aviation."

PHILADELPHIA—President Roosevelt came to politically pivotal Pennsylvania today to inspect progress of his $15,000,000,000 national defense program and deliver a major address at the scene of two of his greatest political triumphs.

Mr. Roosevelt will receive an honorary degree of doctor of laws from the University of Pennsylvania and speak to the nation by radio at 3 p. m. (EST).

Stepping off his special train, Mr. Roosevelt was greeted by Senator Joseph F. Guffey (D., Pa.), with whom his name is bracketed in the Pennsylvania election, and John B. Kelly, Philadelphia Democratic chief.

Mr. Roosevelt, however, subordinated politics to his inspection of defense production in Philadelphia. Escorted by Rear Admiral A. E. Watson, commandant of the navy yard, he drove immediately

Fleet Sails As French Receive Jap Ultimatum

Naval Units Converge on Manila With Indo-China Tension Increased By Demands for Right of Way for Troops, With Time Limit.

(By International News Service)

SHANGHAI—Coinciding with swift movements of United States Asiatic fleet units, a Japanese ultimatum to French Indo-China was reported from Hong Kong and Saigon today.

These reports were accompanied by a sudden increase in tension between Japan and Indo-China. Four hundred Japanese civilians living in the French colony were ordered to depart today.

The asserted 72-hour ultimatum, expiring at midnight on Sunday, was said to have demanded that Nipponese troops be permitted to cross Indo-China and that Japan also be given permanent naval and air bases in the colony.

The Japanese demands are designed to facilitate the campaign against south China.

Negotiations between Japan and French Indo-Chinese officials were said to have broken down yesterday.

(French Foreign Minister Paul Baudouin at Vichy yesterday indicated France would accept the Japanese demands affecting Indo-China. He said France can expect no aid from Britain or the United States.

(The Chinese Chiang Kai-Shek regime at Chungking recently issued several warnings that it will take appropriate defense measures, including a possible thrust southward through Indo-China, if Japanese troops are permitted to use the French colony as an avenue into south China.

(In London authoritative quarters confirmed that "important" conversations are proceeding in Washington for Anglo-American defense cooperation in the Pacific area.)

The Saigon radio, in a broadcast reporting the ultimatum, said that while the Vichy government probably would offer little resistance to Japan, the colony itself, under Gov. Admiral De Coux, will defend the country to the utmost.

Evacuation of Japanese citizens from Indo-China was reported already under way.

Units of the Unites States Far Eastern Fleet converged on Manila. American submarines already are based at Cavite on Manila bay in the Philippine Islands and the cruiser Marblehead and a group of destroyers soon will join them.

Rear Admiral Thomas C. Hart, commander of the Asiatic fleet, however, is expected to remain in Shanghai temporarily with the cruiser Augusta.

There was no official indication of any definite connection between the American fleet movements and the tension between Japan and the French colony.

Members of the Japanese mission headed by Gen. Isaku Nishihara, which had been negotiating with French authorities at Hanoi, are preparing to leave, it was reported in Shanghai.

Gen. Nishihara may remain a few days but the Saigon radio reported the situation is "most delicate."

Further seriousness was lent to latest developments in the light of current rumors that Japanese civilians also are preparing to evacuate Hong Kong as well as Indo-China.

BEATEN: Nazi Air Raiders Driven Back By RAF Planes

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—British fighters repulsed more than 200 German planes in a massive battle over the southeast coast this morning and the raiders were seen racing in disorder toward the French coast. British sources reported today, following night-long Nazi raids on London and heavy RAF counter-blows against German inland continental bases and "invasion ports."

The authoritative British press association said British fighters, hidden in the clouds waiting for the Germans, pounced on them as they reached the Kent coast and a free-for-all followed.

The press association's correspondent, describing the battle, said the raiders were driven relentlessly back eastward and the fight continued over the sea.

Later a formation of Hurricanes and Spitfires came flying home to the cheers of watchers below.

Near Dover, one German fighter spun out of the sky trailing smoke and crashed in hills near the channel port.

German raiders also appeared over London and the Thames estuary during the morning.

Londoners, warned to air raid shelters when the attackers appeared, emerged again shortly after noon when it was believed the danger had passed.

Anti-aircraft batteries kept up a thunderous barrage against the estuary raiders until British fighters sped to the attack.

British bombers, striking at German bases while the Nazis were subjecting London to its 13th consecutive all-night attack, blasted the Dortmund-Ems canal and other vital communications in Germany proper and a number of ports and airdromes in German-occupied territory, the air ministry announced.

Resuming daylight raids, nine German planes roared through the clouds over the London area, but dropped only two bombs. Addi-

PACT: Axis Powers, Spain Plan End of British Empire

(By International News Service)

ROME—A formal agreement binding Germany, Italy and Spain in a pact aimed at eventual dismemberment of the British empire will be signed in Berlin shortly, it was learned today.

The pact will represent the chief result of German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop's visit to Rome, during which he also advised this country that Germany gives Italy full freedom of action against Greece if British forces attempt to operate from there during or after the Egyptian conflict.

The Italo-German negotiations neared their conclusion as Von Ribbentrop lunched with Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano and again saw Premier Mussolini at the Palazzo Venezia.

The Spanish aspects of the agreement will be worked out on Monday or Tuesday of next week when Spanish Minister of the Interior Ramon Serrano Suner arrives in Rome. After seeing him, Ciano will then visit Berlin to put the finishing touches to the whole affair, which will embrace

CHAPTER XXIII.

Edwina's voice was edged with sharpness.

"Why did I come?" she said, repeating Alan's question. "That's what I've been asking myself. But here I am, betraying Dick's confidence and giving you a chance to defend yourself when they come for you . . . a chance to defend yourself or run away. . . "

When he removed his hands and she saw his face, resigned and guilty, she pitied him with all her heart—hated herself for her pity.

He said slowly, "I'm not as smart as I thought I was. I didn't think he'd ever find out but I'm glad he has. I'm glad it's—it's all over. I'm not going to run away. I'm going to stay and take it. . . ."

"I haven't quite finished. Mr. Hartley has made a will. He's left everything to you . . "

He winced as she had winced when Dick told her. Nor could he still his nerves. Rising, he walked several paces away from her and, with his back to her, said, "That's what I've been afraid of since the night Carol suggested that he liked me so well he'd make me his heir. I wanted to stop then but I was in it and I'd made plans to build a house and I needed the money. You'd better go. They may come and find you here. I'm in this alone. Carol doesn't know."

"Why did you do it, Alan? You didn't need money desperately You were doing well without it. I've heard . . ."

"I can't go into details now. I did it and I'll face the consequences. I've been living in hell ever since it started, kidding myself that I was getting away with it. It was like living close to a trap and you fear every day that you'll forget yourself and walk into it. You'd better go. I suppose I should thank you. . . "

"Don't bother . . ."

But by the time she reached the door and had her hand on the knob, she could not go Questions plagued her. Her old insatiable curiosity, she thought.

"Why won't you tell me why you did it, Alan?"

He turned: the movement was slow and heavy.

"Why did I do it? All right. I'll tell you." He was breathing as if breathing hurt. "I've had a plan to my life for—for five years. You walked out on the scandal and gossip but I had to stay with it. I had to listen to it and live with it

"One day on a bus I heard two women talking. They had a newspaper with your picture on the front page. One woman asked, 'Who is Alan Harding?' and the other woman said, 'Oh, he's a nobody. Married her for her money and now she's left him.' A nobody. . . .

"Well, for five years I've worked for one thing—to cease being a nobody and to be a somebody The people here never knew the truth. It was a joke to them. I was the joke. You were Edwina Burke and I was a nobody. People smiled behind their hands. And my mother was hurt and embarrassed and she'd never hurt or embarrassed anybody. I learned then how cruel people can be and I decided to give it back to them with everything I had."

Her hands dropped from the knob as she thought: I'll know him now, really know him. Why didn't I try sooner? I never looked at his side of it I never thought of his mother. I ran off and he had to stay . . .

Alan said, "For almost a year my mother wouldn't go anywhere. Too sensitive, you may think. Yes, but she couldn't shrug her shoulders at people who were laughing at her son. I saw then that there was only one way I could live it down—work for money and position. I wanted to show you and the whole pack of them! I wanted people to come to this nobody and his mother. . .

"I lost the qualities I valued, the qualities I began with. The world was tough and I was tough. And slowly I began to dig my way out, to make a little money, to wear decent clothes, to live in a decent place, to give my mother a few of the luxuries she'd never had. But it was too slow! Then I began to take money from Mr. Hartley . . . I had to make the grade quickly, I thought. I was impatient. I couldn't wait. I didn't want anybody to say that Carol had married a nobody." Closing his eyes tightly, he said, "Carol . . . Carol . . "

Edwina said, "You've never been happy in your life, have you Alan? It's been all fight and struggle, hasn't it?"

He nodded. "You can't be happy with a sword hanging over your head." His eyes quickened. "I don't want your sympathy. I did a rotten thing. I've never once tried to deceive myself into thinking that it was anything but rotten."

Edwina's hands were clasped now; the knuckles were white.

"But it all goes back to me — to my selfishness and my dishonesty. The things you do when you are 18 and you think you should be forgiven — because you are young and foolish!" There were tears in Edwina's eyes when she said, "I haven't anything to offer you now except myself. I'll give that and I'll stand by. At least I won't be against you"

He looked at her as if he were seeing her, actually, for the first time since she came.

"That's decent of you. I've been rude and cruel to you. Why should you care what happens to me?"

"I do care. I cared enough to marry you once."

"You should be very glad you aren't married to me now. You'd better go."

"Is there anything I can do?"

"No. I'll stay."

"Dick doesn't like this job of his here, Alan"

"I'm guilty. I'd do the same if I were in his place." When her hands turned the knob, he said, "Thanks, Edwina."

The streets were almost deserted when she came out and walked to her car. She sat there quite a long time before she drove away. She would go to Mr. Hartley, she thought, and beg him to drop the charges against Alan.

But how could she make the old blind man understand what had happened to Alan five years ago? How could she make anybody understand the humiliation of a boy and his mother: people laughing and pointing to the boy Edwina Burke had eloped with for a thrill, a caprice on her part, they thought, and on his part the desire to marry her for her money. Alan was an admitted embezzler and that fact stood strongly against the seeds of hate and bitterness planted five years ago by a spoiled, willful girl who had thought only of herself and who had conveniently run away from what she had done.

No, she would go to Carol and tell her, and spare Alan the painful task. Certainly she could not go home and be alone with her sense of guilt.

Carol came downstairs to welcome Edwina and at sight of her disheveled, she thought of Norman—that something had happened to Norman. They went in the living room together and nervously Edwina lighted a cigaret as she looked cautiously about her.

"Is your father here?"

"No He was called out before I came in from shopping. Are you ill?"

"No. A little jittery, that's all." How to tell her—how to tell her that the boy she loved would be arrested. . . . To put off what she had to do, shes aid, "This is a charming room, Carol."

Carol smiled. "Thank you. You can cover a multitude of sins with chintz." But her eyes were waiting, questioning, troubled. What had brought Edwina at 6 o'clock in the afternoon to sit, smoking furiously, in her living room? She felt that she could bear no more drama, no more good-byes. And she thought again how strange it was that she felt nothing but friendliness toward the girl who had made Alan so happy. Had not Norman said, "Edwina is a girl you can trust?"

"Carol, I'm probably not the person to tell you what I have come to tell you. Alan will want to—painful as it will be."

"Alan?" Edwina and Alan had seen each other?

"Yes. It's bad news, terrible news. I'm sorry. But I want you to listen very carefully and you'll realize I'm in it, too. I'll go back and come up to the present. I don't want to miss anything . . ."

Carol sat very still and listened, the color coming and going in her face as Edwina's terse words made incredibly clear pictures in her mind. And so last did Edwina speak, her voice hoarse and tired, that Carol's mind, hurried from picture to picture until Edwina's voice ceased and the only sound in the house was Rosie's humming of a hymn in the kitchen . . .

Stewart and Russell.

"No Time For Comedy" which belies its title by being hilarious all the way, brings together a pair of America's favorite film stars in their first co-starring roles James Stewart, that guy who went to Washington, and Rosalind Russell, that woman from "The Women" are seen in this film which begins Saturday at the Ohio. It is taken from the stage success by S. N. Behrman and concerns the behind-the-scenes story of theatrical folks.

Drama of Early West.

"Wyoming," starring Wallace Beery in an action-packed outdoor drama of the west comes to the Madison Saturday. Beery plays Reb Harkness, former train robber, who turns leader of forces of law and order in a pioneer Wyoming town helps rout a band of cattle thieves, aids General Custer in his fight against the Indians, and stages a thrilling rescue of Ann Rutherford and Bob Watson. Lee Bowman plays the romantic lead opposite Miss Rutherford.

O. Henry's Caballero.

O. Henry's colorful caballero is at his fightin'est in "Lucky Cisco Kid" role taken by Cesar Romero in the film at the Ritz. The action begins at the start of the picture when Cisco and his pal, Gordito, ride into an Arizona town being terrorized by raiders and "badmen." He is framed by a crooked judge, adored by two jealous women and hunted by a hundred enemies. The co-feature is "Saturday's Children," starring John Garfield and Anne Shirley.

Edgar Wallace Charactered.

A fast-moving and clever mystery story is "The Mysterious Mr. Reeder" which stars Will Fyffe. The picture is a co-attraction with "Legion of the Lawless" at the Park. Fyffe is seen as a crafty investigator of Scotland Yard, one of the best known characters to come from the pen of Edgar Wallace. In the second feature, George O'Brien and Virginia Vale are co-starred.

1,350 RECEIVE PENSION CHECKS IN RICHLAND

August Figures Show Biggest Month on Record; Gain In County 10 Per Cent.

More needy aged persons received old age pensions in Richland county and the rest of the state in August than in any other month in the history of the state, Tom McCaw, chief of the Ohio division of aid for the aged, reported today.

In Richland county, 1,350 persons received pension checks in August, a gain of approximately 10 per cent over August, 1939, the state figures showed.

Most of the new names have been added since June when the state legislature appropriated additional funds for pensions, it was pointed out. During the past two months, 7,202 new pensioners have been added to the rolls in Ohio for a net increase of 5,236 recipients since July 1, McCaw's report said.

A total of 127,484 pensioners in Ohio received aid in August, with their payments amounting to $2,915,426, an increase of $16,470 over July. The average monthly grant was $22.87.

McCaw said the aid for aged division paid out $22,736,538 in pensions during the first eight months of 1940, the largest amount ever paid to Ohio pensioners in a similar period since the pension law went into effect.

He estimated that additional funds appropriated by the legislature during the summer would make it possible to add about 12,000 more names to the rolls by the end of the year.

RECEIVES FUND

Richland county received $3,624 in state and federal funds today for the care of indigent blind and dependent children in September.

The allocation included $1,291 in state funds and $2,333 in federal money, distributed in accordance with a financing program which requires the county, state, and federal governments to contribute to the cost of the care of indigents and dependent children.

NO SINGERS

FINDLAY — (AP) — A feminine voice on the telephone asked if station WPGG was a broadcasting station.

"Yes'm it is. What can we do for you?"

"I just wondered if you needed a singer," came the sweet voice.

"No, lady," replied Patrolman Taylor, "WPGG is a police sending station."

SPLITS FUND

Auditor Sends $26,734 To County Subdivisions.

Deputy County Auditor Arthur S. Beck distributed $26,734 in state sales tax funds today to the cities, villages, and townships in Richland county.

The funds represent the county's share of sales tax receipts for local operating expenses for the past three months. The money goes into the subdivisions' general funds.

The larger allocations included $10,693 to the city of Mansfield, $1,069 to Shelby, and $534 to Madison township. The rest of the sales tax money is distributed by the state in old age pensions and school funds.

PAM-- Watched?! By A. W. Brewerton

I GUESS HE DIDN'T SEE ME - THERE HE GOES!- I MUSN'T LOSE TRACK OF HIM IN THIS CROWD!- OH! HOW WILL I EVER GET WORD TO DAVID ?
9-20
THERE'S A POLICEMAN - I COULD ASK HIM TO ARREST THE MAN - FOR STEALING MY BAG! - BUT THAT WOULD SPOIL DAVID'S PLAN TO TRAIL THE MAN TO OTHERS - OTHERS HE IS SO ANXIOUS TO CAPTURE!
A BLOCK FURTHER ON, THE MAN SUDDENLY INCREASES HIS PACE AND ABRUPTLY TURNS INTO A SIDE STREET! PAM ALMOST RUNS TO THE CORNER AND IS BARELY IN TIME!
OH, I SEE HIM - HE WENT INTO THAT BUILD - ING!
THE MAN HAD BOLTED QUICKLY INTO A DOORWAY!
STOPPING NEAR THE BUILDING, UNDECIDED WHETHER TO RISK TRYING AGAIN TO PHONE, PAM SUDDENLY BECOMES AWARE OF -- THAT YOUNG FELLOW LEANING AGAINST THE POST - I DO BELIEVE HE'S WATCHING ME - NOW, WHERE DID HE COME FROM ?

STOCKS TACK ON MINOR GAINS IN MART TODAY

Many Leaders Lacking Rising Stamina; Bonds Hold To Steady Course.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Selected stocks managed to tack on minor gains in today's market but many leaders were notably lacking in rising stamina.

Among resistant issues were Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, Chesapeake and Ohio, Anaconda, Kennecott, General Motors and United Aircraft.

Bonds held to a steady course and commodities were a trifle mixed.

Financial quarters interpreted as constructive the combined statement of federal reserve banks in New York City disclosing another upturn in commercial, industrial and agricultural loans to a new peak for 1940.

Public spending throughout the country was stressed by the survey of Dun & Bradstreet which placed average retail sales this week at 9 to 15 per cent above the like period a year ago.

BRITISH DRIVE OFF ATTACKERS

200 Nazi Planes Repulsed as They Near Coast; Fewer Bombs Fall In London.

tional raiders appeared simultaneously over a southeast inland town.

Later rooftop observers heard the drone of planes over the capital, but they were flying too high to tell whether they were British or German.

London again was the main objective of the night attacks, but bombs also were dumped in Lancashire, Essex, Surrey, Berkshire, Kent, the Midlands and southwest England.

A rainstorm swept the Straits of Dover, pathway for a threatened German invasion, during the night and a southwest gale lashed the sea against Dover's chalk cliffs, but the wind subsided this morning. The sea was reported calmer and visibility was clear, especially during sunny intervals.

Watchers at Dover reported that for a time the entire coastal area from Calais to Boulogne appeared to be a huge sheet of flame after RAF raiders.

Germans Set Air Raid Deaths at 600

BERLIN—(AP)—Six hundred Germans have been killed and 1,400 wounded by British aerial bombardments since the start of the war, informed sources estimated today as new bombings of some of Germany's most cherished towns were reported.

Heidelberg, picturesque university town on the banks of the Neckar, only 12 miles from the communications center of Mannheim, was raided this morning, these sources said, and three persons killed.

Seven others were killed in other western and southwestern German cities, particularly in the Rhineland, it was reported, and new batches of phosphorous incendiary "leaves" as well as bombs were scattered.

The high command said "several" British planes made the raids.

While the press continued to threaten to "settle accounts with the British mercilessly," the high command's communique said "battle planes continued retaliatory raids on London and war-essential objectives in western and central England."

FLEET SHIFTED BY U. S. IN FAR EASTERN CRISIS

Japs Set Time Limit in Their Demands on French For Troop Right-of-Way.

in informed Washington quarters today after conferences between Secretary of State Cordell Hull and his far eastern advisers.

Meanwhile, usually well-informed sources understood that the United States and Great Britain have been discussing secretly an agreement whereby the U. S. navy might use the great British naval base at Singapore—one of the most modern and best-defended in the world. State department officials refused to confirm these reports.

The question of Japan's possible invasion of Indo-China, most important source of U. S. tin and rubber imports, was brought up by reports that the weak French government felt that it could hold out no longer against Tokyo's demand for permission to dispatch 25,000 troops through the colony to strike at China from the south.

The American government would not be overly concerned if it were convinced that Japan planned to use Indo-China merely as a route of approach to China proper, and nothing more.

But officials are convinced, in the light of previous Japanese adventures in neighboring territory, that once Japanese troops entered Indo-China they would remain there.

Japanese spokesmen during recent weeks have made it plain enough that they regard Indo China as part of the domain they consider themselves destined to rule under the "new order in Asia" policy.

French-Jap Negotiations Stall

HANOI, French Indo-China —(AP)— With all Japanese civilian nationals removed from this French colonial capital and Japan placing a time limit for settlement of her military demands, negotiations with Japan reached a crisis today if not an actual breakdown.

Major Gen. Issaku Nishihara, head of a Japanese mission which has been trying to work out details of a Vichy-authorized grant of "limited facilities" for Japanese troops and naval forces, terminated his personal negotiations with the French and prepared to leave Hanoi for Haiphong.

"When I leave French territory you may say the crisis has been reached," he said in his final interview with American newspapermen.

He asserted that the Japanese attitude did not threaten the colony's territorial integrity nor French sovereignty, but he said that Japan was convinced the situation demanded a time limit be set for a detailed final settlement.

(At Hongkong official quarters said Japan had given the French until midnight Sunday to comply with her demands which now include some new, secret clauses.)

Nishihara denied that Japan had presented any new demand causing the negotiations to reach a "delicate state," as previously asserted by French sources.

He said the Japanese attitude was based on a Tokyo-Vichy understanding which provided that French and Japanese on the spot should settle details of the military facilities to be granted to the Japanese in Indo-China for facilitation of operations against the central Chinese government armies under Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

Nishihara said the facilities sought included bases for land and air forces.

British Confirm Talks With U. S.

LONDON —(INS)— Authoritative British quarters today confirmed that 'important' conversations are proceeding in Washington regarding Anglo-American defense co-operation in the Pacific Ocean.

The conversations, it was said, are being carried on by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, British ambassador Lord Lothian and Richard G. Casey, the Australian minister to Washington.

No details are available for the present, a spokesman said, beyond the fact that Britain, Australia and the United States are discussing questions of "co-operation in defense of the Pacific."

The announcement led to immediate speculation as to whether some agreement might soon be expected allowing the United States use of British and Australian possessions in the Pacific as naval and air bases.

Such an agreement presumably would parallel the recent pact whereby the United States was given 99-year leases for naval and air bases in British possessions in the Atlantic Ocean in exchange for fifty overage American destroyers handed to the British navy.

FIRE DESTROYS SHIP

NEW RICHMOND—(AP)—The Queen, 86-foot steel-hulled cruiser owned by Dana S. Kaye, Cincinnati publicist, was destroyed near here yesterday by fire of undetermined origin.

SCHOOL HEAD'S WIFE KILLED

FLIERS INTERNED

Italian Aviators Held by Turks After Landing at Sea.

CAIRO —(INS)— Seven Italian airmen, occupants of three planes which landed on the sea after raids on Palestine, have been interned in Turkey, it was reported today.

The planes were believed to have been damaged by anti-aircraft fire at Tel Aviv.

WILLKIE PLEDGES AVIATION BOOST

G. O. P. Candidate Lists 4-Ply Program For Restoration of Prosperity.

Willkie discussed this industry specifically as a follow-up to his address last night in the brilliantly-lighted Los Angeles coliseum, where he offered a cheering crowd four steps which he said would "turn this country around" from a totalitarian system. He listed them as follows:

"1. The rules under which business is conducted must be clear and must be stable.

"2. Government policies affecting business should be consistent.

"3. Government competition with business must be kept within well-defined limits. It must not stop the flow of capital into new production enterprise.

"4. Business must be given a chance to make a profit."

In addition, Willkie suggested the creation of a special commission to look into the whole revenue situation.

"This tax structure that the New Deal has erected," he said, "is unscientific, repressive, and loaded with punitive measures. It is unjust and discriminatory. It is driving capital out of productive employment."

The audience, estimated by Inspector J. V. Henry of the sheriff's office at 70,000, applauded, as it did when the nominee said:

"If you people want a completely regulated economy, if you want a totalitarian system of some sort, don't vote for me. I'm headed in just the opposite direction."

Mr. and Mrs. Willkie left at once after the talk for the Hollywood Bowl to greet members of the film colony at a rally. Robert Montgomery, the actor, pulled the nominee from the wings to the microphone on the run.

Willkie pumped Montgomery's hand. Then, standing in front of the blue, yellow and red orchestra shell, he asked:

"How can anybody who lives in Hollywood say there is not opportunity in America? Mary Pickford, Walter O'Keefe and Bob Montgomery are all friends of mine, and I don't think that any one of them had a dirty nickel when he began."

Willkie's itinerary took him northward today for campaign talks up to San Francisco. After a major speech there, he will remain until Saturday night and then will go into the northwest.

A tomato barrage enlivened his ride to Los Angeles yesterday afternoon from Long Beach. Youngsters on the outskirts of the city tossed vegetables at cars in the parade, but apparently without scoring a hit.

SENT TO JAIL

Willard Driver Gets 30 Days on Driving Charge.

Lloyd C. Willoughby, 44, of Willard, was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in the county jail by Judge C. H. Huston in common pleas court this morning on a conviction for driving while intoxicated.

Judge Huston suspended the fine but he ordered Willoughby to serve out the jail sentence.

Willoughby, a bridegroom of two weeks, was arrested yesterday afternoon by state highway patrolmen on the Bowman street road north of the city.

RECOVERS

Retired Carpenter Fails to Succumb to Ax Wounds.

TOLEDO —(AP)— Fred Lymanstall, 66, retired carpenter, recovered today from wounds he inflicted on himself after killing his wife, May, 58, with a hand ax.

Mrs. Lymanstall was found dead yesterday in her bedroom. Her skull was crushed. Lymanstall was found semi-conscious with both wrists slashed in the basement of their home.

Married 55 Years

Guests of honor at a dinner given by their children Sunday will be Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Simmons, above, who will observe their 55th wedding anniversary Monday at their home in North Liberty. The Pleasant Hill dam project forced the aged couple to vacate their Newville home three years ago to move to North Liberty. Mr. Simmons, 75, was employed for a number of years by the Humphreys Mfg. Co. and later by the Mansfield waterworks department. Mrs. Simmons is 74. Six of their seven children are living.

a non-aggression treaty between Spain and Portugal.

An official announcement this afternoon said that a "perfect identity" of views exists between Germany and Italy, particularly regarding conduct of the war whose development at the present time is considered "satisfactory."

Political quarters confirmed that Von Ribbentrop and Ciano had discussed the Balkan situation. The Axis powers, it was said, have succeeded in restoring calm in southeastern Europe and eliminating "enemy intrigues."

Italians Admit British Attacks

ROME—(INS)—Widespread British attacks on Italian positions in North Africa were admitted in a high command communique today.

The communique, which claimed the sinking of a British submarine, reported:

"One of our naval reconnaissance planes bombed and sank a British submarine.

"In North Africa, the enemy air force attacked the port of Derna as well as the districts of Bomba, Tobruk, and Sollum. There were some dead and wounded as well as slight material damage.

"Enemy attacks on Diredaua, Giavello, and Mogadiscio caused very little damage and no casualties."

Planes Warships Bomb Italians

CAIRO — (INS) — Seeking to stem the Italian advance into western Egypt, British planes and warships today bombed and shelled the desert positions to Marshal Rodolpho Graziani's Fascist troops.

Denying Rome reports that the Italian forces have swept forward across the bleak desert as far as Marsa Matruh, British military headquarters claimed the position of the two opposing armies was "unchanged."

The Italians, harassed by the British areial raiders and the fire of the warships, are endeavoring to consolidate their position in the Sidi Barrani and Sollum areas, a military bulletin reported.

FORT WAYNE —(AP)— If Wendell L. Willkie is elected president, Thanksgiving Day in 1941 will be the last Thursday in November instead of the next to last as fixed by President Roosevelt.

City Hall Picnic Leaves Some Groaning But All Agree It Was a Big Day.

Locke bested his opponent Lieut. Bruce Friday, in offerings at the plate, holding the officers to 11 hits while councilmen collected 12 off the policeman hurler. Both teams were charged with four errors.

In the second game against the firemen, who substituted their team freely with other department employes, councilmen took a one-run lead in the initial inning and held it for the balance of the game.

Heavy hitting featured the contest, "Jiggs" Price, sewer department employe banging out a four circuit clout in the third frame. Kutchall, Frank Burton and Locke hit the fire laddies' pitcher, Clarence Lurz, for three-base hits, and Lester Hunter and Harry Emmons collected doubles.

Complete box scores of both games will be found on the sports pages of today's News-Journal.

Following the baseball game employes held a picnic supper.

The employes were unanimous in their decision to hold a similar affair next year and to include city employes' families. The same committee, headed by Ralph A. Hughes, general chairman, was named to arrange the event.

In the women's events, prizes went to Sybil Scott, health department and Deputy Auditor Ruth Durig for winning the balloon batting contest; Isabel Gerstmeyer, deputy municipal court clerk for winning the pop drinking contest; Wanda Stuckey, health department clerk, winner in the whistling contest.

City Solicitor Marion D. Ward took first place in a dressing contest which featured the evening program.

Door prizes went to H. C. DeYarmon, garbage department; Willen Triesch, City Hall telephone operator; Patrolman E. D. Mitchell, and Capt. A. R. Herring, of the fire department.

Dairy products, including ice cream, butter and cream was supplied by Mansfield pasteurizing plants, and refreshments by the distributors of Royal Crown Cola. Door prizes were furnished through the courtesy of Westinghouse.

ROOSEVELT IN PHILLY FOR TALK

Inspects Naval Construction, Gives 'Major Address' This Afternoon.

to the giant plant where the 35,000-ton battleship Washington is being fitted out.

The 45,000-ton battleship New Jersey is on the way, and paper work is being rushed on four other super-dreadnaughts for America's two ocean navy.

A marine guard was drawn up at attention and came to present arms as Mr. Roosevelt and his entourage drove in the navy yard gate. As the white clad officials of the yard came to salute, a navy gun boomed out a 21-gun presidential salute and a navy band played the National anthem.

Applause swelled into a roar of cheers as the president arrived at the drydocks where the New Washington is being rushed to completion. The huge, gray battlewagon, which already has been launched, was covered by overalled workers who dropped their tools to rush to the rail and cheer the president.

Mr. Roosevelt halted briefly at a huge assembly building where two new type torpedo boats are under construction. He looked over the hulls of the two boats which, when completed and armed with 50 calibre machine guns and torpedo tubes, will join the navy's "mosquito" fleet.

Sweeping past docks where a flotilla of World war type destroyers was tied up with rails manned by white-jacketed sailors, Mr. Roosevelt drove to the naval aircraft factory and reserve naval aviation base.

A cabinet associate was reported to have forecast a weekly political address by Mr. Roosevelt between now and election day. There was no White House confirmation of such a program.

The United Press was informed all presidential engagements were tentative but that Mr. Roosevelt was expected to speak briefly in Washington—three minutes on one occasion—on Sept. 25 and again Sept. 26 and probably would dedicate three school buildings near Hyde Park, N. Y., in October.

Although White House plans were not revealed beyond that point, the United Press learned there had been discussion of an October swing through Kentucky and Ohio. Pennsylvania with 36 electoral votes and Ohio with 26 are claimed by both Republicans and Democrats but with this difference—Mr. Roosevelt could be elected without those state while Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential candidate, probably must have them to win.

Conscription Officials Reverse Earlier Ruling Exempting Them Automatically.

disruption of homes and family life even where the wife is not financially dependent on the husband's weekly pay envelope, it had been planned to defer all married men automatically.

The law authorizes the president to defer "those men in a status with respect to persons dependent upon them for support which renders their deferment advisable." The definition of dependent appears to bar a blanket exemption of married men.

The final decision now will be up to the local draft boards. Some men may be called upon to prove to those boards that their wife is a dependent.

Officials privately expressed the opinion, however, that the boards would defer married men except in most unusual cases.

During the World war some resentment was aroused at the blanket exemption of married men when 344,872 got married soon after passage of the law. Subsequently 122,563 were reclassified and were drafted.

WALKOUT LIKELY TO STOP PAY

Income of 1,200 Employes Threatened by Strike of Sixteen.

ELYRIA—(AP)—A walkout of 16 power plant workers as the result of a wage dispute threatened to hold up the pay today of 1,200 employes at General Industries Co.

Company officials said the walkout stopped all operations, and made all employes idle because the plant generates its own power.

Power plant workers, members of the AFL firemen, oilers and helpers union, left their stations yesterday following a breakdown in negotiations for a 2½ cent-an-hour wage increase. The concern, maker of electric motors and plastics, has received some defense orders but has not started work on these.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1940.

"Why do others hate us so," wonders Adolf, as another of his bombs drops on a hospital.

Those who adversely criticise Mr. Willkie's grammar might well pause to consider the vulnerability of Mr. Roosevelt's arithmetic.

Some baseball fans are hoping the Cleveland-Detroit see-saw will soon be settled—so they can get back to thinking about national defense.

Nation's Welfare Comes First

THERE is disquieting talk concerning "bottlenecks" in the defense program. It is obvious that the time taken in turning plans into production is dangerously long.

According to commentators, certain segments of American industry are largely at fault, refusing to go ahead and do their jobs unless and until they are assured of excessive profits, without possibility of loss. Just how accurate these charges are is not known, as the whole defense drive is enveloped in clouds of uncertainty. These clouds must be dissipated. The American people want to know and they are entitled to know just what groups are putting selfish interests ahead of the national interest. The greedy industry, no less than the greedy labor leader or the greedy politician, must be given short shrift.

There is no question about the patriotism of those basic American industries which are essential to defense—the transportation companies, the power and light companies, and the majority of all business. These industries are sacrificing profits when necessary to the end that the public good be served. But if there is a purely mercenary spirit in some industries—a spirit which thinks only of big money, and cares not how they make it—the American people will demand stern action.

There must be profits—no man can build a plant without feeling that eventually he will earn enough to pay for it. But there is a tremendous difference between profit and profiteering, even as there is a tremendous difference between the sincere labor leader who seeks to obtain for the worker a fair return for what he does, and the labor racketeer who seeks to exploit the industries that make employment possible.

Industrialists, labor leaders and officeholders who put selfish interests above national welfare should be regarded as equally culpable in weakening public confidence at a time when unified action may be essential to preservation of American freedom.

Revive Single Six-Year Term Idea

THE current effort to revive interest in constitutional limitation of the United States presidency to a single term of six years need not be taken seriously—or regarded as an imminent change from the present four-year term, with a two-term limit established by precedent but not by law.

This year's campaign hinges so largely on whether any man is so "indispensable" as to be required for a third four-year term, that present discussion of the advisability of limiting the presidency to one six-year term seems more academic than practical.

It is argued by proponents of the six-year one term proposal that a president, under such limitation, would be less inclined and less motivated to "play politics" while in office, but "playing politics" is a group activity as well as an individual trait, and divorcement of the presidential office from partisan politics is an unlikely consummation, however devoutly it may be wished.

Interesting debate should develop, however, in hearings on this subject to be held by a senate judiciary subcommittee, which has invited testimony on the proposed constitutional amendment.

It was Thomas Jefferson who first advocated a single six-year term for president, although he limited himself to two four-year terms. It was Jefferson, in fact, who established the two-term limitation now referred to as a "tradition." Andrew Jackson was a later exponent of the one-term idea and conveyed these views to congress in six annual messages—but nothing was done about it.

'Taken' But Not Conquered

THE NETHERLANDERS taken over by Hitler refuse to be assimilated. The "new European order" evidently means nothing to them. A German newspaper correspondent, after a tour of the country, reports that the Dutch people "generally refuse all that is German, and are in no way thankful that the German soldiers treated their land so carefully."

Maybe one reason for that is the appalling destruction wrought by the invaders in the important city of Rotterdam. Its richest and most vital square mile was utterly destroyed by Nazi bombers after the invaders had signed the peace treaty. Recent reports say it may take fifteen years to clear away the wreckage and restore that area.

But the main cause of resistance to Hitler's regime is the simple quality of stubborn independence for which the Dutch have long been noted. Live or die, they will stoutly keep right on making Nazi occupation of their country as hard as possible. And their patriotic example may hearten some of their oppressed neighbors.

Happier Side of Farm Picture

THE RURAL NEW YORKER, looking for a typical farm family to honor at the world's fair, has made some thrilling discoveries. As neighbors send in their nominations they describe the people they recommend. They tell of modest farms, mostly with less than 100 acres of land, but self-supporting and producing something more than food crops.

These people who have farms profitably send sons and daughters to college. They live well-rounded lives, with culture and recreation going hand in hand with agriculture. There are mothers who play the church organ, children who make up small family orchestras, families who sing together and who go to town to attend good concerts.

The elders are active in grange, the youngsters in junior farm clubs. The fathers serve on township school boards or are village officials. They have radios and books and pianos in their homes. They live graciously.

It is good for city people to learn about their fellow citizens in the rural districts. It is good to know that there are so many farmers of this type in the land. The tragedies of subnormal times, share-croppers, dust bowlers, and the like, offer good publicity but do not tell the full and typical, but the happier farm picture needs to be presented, too.

OUR HOME GROWN "APPEASEMENT" POLICY

Listen, World!

"Love In the Sun."

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

HOW'D you like to get away from it all? Turn your back for keeps on the expensive fuss and frills, the fear and speed and pressure, the waste and bills, and wander off with only a few dollars, to make a fresh start in some quiet little village up some sunny little cove?

How'd you like to discover a dingy, tumble-down shack, half sunk in weeds, and gradually put it in shape, knocking down partitions, nailing up shelves, opening window and door to wind and sea and sun, feeling blood beginning to bubble in your tired flesh?

Would be grand, wouldn't it? Like being born again in a freer, happier world. And I'll wager that nine out of ten of us cherish some such secret dream, think of it with a yearning choke as we toss sleepless at night.

Dain and the man she loved didn't merely cherish that dream, they went out and turned it into reality. Like many typical moderns, life had turned into a blind alley for both of them. Then, in a back water, off the Cornish coast, he found a deserted, neglected shack which he could rent for a pittance a week. There was filth on floor and ceiling. The roof leaked like a sponge. The brook that trickled past the door was choked with slime and rubbish. Of modern conveniences, there wasn't a sliver. Neither blanket, bed nor chair, table or running water. Nor money to install them.

Could they possibly make a home of such mean beginnings? Yet they had to take a chance, somewhere. Thousands—millions—broken by the hopeless fear and futility of modern life were taking such chances, making good. Why shouldn't they? So he sent for her.

Leo Walmsley's book "Love In the Sun," Doubleday Doran, publishers, tells the story of what came of that gamble. And lustier medicine for what ails America I have yet to meet. Here is all the courage of our pioneers coupled with the gaiety and ingenuity of our moderns. Here is triumph over the monotony, mediocrity and deadly menace of the Machine Age.

These youngsters did not only raise and rescue themselves from the trap in which they were caught, they rescued Life itself, restored its tang and beauty and healing mystery. And they did it all by methods which the dumbest or laziest laggard can employ.

Planks picked from the tide wrack. Scraps of canvas. Second-hand tools and pipes, chance bits of roofing. Whitewash, paint, pumice, and elbow grease. Of these they built their home and eager happiness.

Eager? How long is it since you felt eager about anything? How long is it since you felt curious, excited, childishly enthusiastic?"

There was that garden—deserted, neglected. Neither of them knew as much about agriculture as a night-spot toe dancer. But they had to have food. So they sent for pamphlets and proceeded to dig. Wrenching out the networks of wiry roots with their strong young hands. Hauling great loads of seaweed from the beach for fertilizer. Picking up seeds, slips, bulbs and plants from vagrant junk piles. Seeing the nourished, quickened earth spill over, at last, with food and flower.

That question of food. If you're a Tired Business Man, whose only contact with diet is through some exorbitant grocery bill, you'll weep over it. And, chances are, tear your hair. For to these young people, food came as it was intended to come, from soil and sea—without charge. That daily jaunt for eight-pound bass, mullet, masses of whitefish and schools of silvery mackerel. With the salt spray in their ruddy, laughing faces! And the ride home through the twilight, tired but content.

And there was the baby. The baby they had no logical reason to desire and every reason to fear. Yet the baby came, came while his frantic father fished interminably in the bay, seeing a great meteor hang and break, like a cry of joy, above his humble roof. "Any house where a baby is expected," he whispered to himself, "might be forgot to have a star of some sort shining over it."

"Love in the Sun," life as it was meant to be, with or without machines. Read this for the saving of your soul. A finer, more zestful book has yet to make the market.

Health And Diet

Bathing Habits Over the World.

—By DR. CLENDENING

THE Americans unquestionably are the healthiest people in the world today. One reason is climate, one is an even food supply, and one is probably bathtubs.

The United States owns 95 per cent of the bathtubs in the world today. In Paris, 25 per cent of private homes have a private bath—and Paris is supposed to be the cleanest city in France! Parisians average a bath once every four months and residents of Moscow once in 18 months, according to my informant, who is Mildred Brenna, writing in Hygeia.

Steaming Hot.

The Japs and the Finns are the great bathers of the world. The Jap averages 365 baths a year. Their bathtub facilities are nothing like ours, however, but are either tubs or showers placed in a bamboo hut in the back yard. The Japanese bath has a medicinal rather than cleansing purpose; the temperature of the water is very hot, at least up to 120 Fahrenheit.

Finns also enjoy a medicinal steam bath once a week in their log bath huts which accommodate ten to twenty people.

These huts are arranged so that a hot steam bath can be enjoyed. As sweating proceeds, the bather rubs his skin with crystals of Epsom salt. After the stay in the bath house is over the bather jumps in a snow bank or has a bucket of cold water poured over him.

For the Japanese, a cold bath is used only as a penance.

In Russia a bathtub costs 2,000 rubles—as much as a grand piano. In a Moscow hotel, I am told, if you ask for a bath on Monday, you may get it on Wednesday.

Booking Baths.

A few years ago I traveled in England by motor from London through the northern Cathedral towns. These were cities of from ten-thousand to one-hundred-thousand population. I managed to get one bath during my trip. In York, at the best hotel in town, I was told in the morning that eight people had "booked a bath" ahead of me in the public bath room. This was in cities the size of Wichita, Kansas, or Lima, Ohio, or Bend, Oregon. Imagine a hotel in such American cities with no room with a private bath.

I am not so sure, however, but that we Americans have arranged things so comfortably for ourselves that we overdo the bathing idea. There is no law of Nature that requires a daily bath, especially in the winter. I believe our skins would be healthier if we bathed once or twice a week in cold weather. This is especially true of hand washing, which can be done in such excess as to induce chapping.

Water either hotter or colder than the body brings on physiological changes just as definitely as do certain drugs. These affect especially the blood vessels, raising and lowering blood pressure, giving the heart an extra workout. This again is not always desirable for those past middle age.

Man About Manhattan

By HAROLD HAMIL

(A transplanted Midwesterner pinch-hitting for vacationing George Tucker)

NEW YORK—This is about a fellow who found out it's no sin to admit you can't find your way around New York.

A transplanted Midwesterner, he had been here exactly three weeks.

As the subway clattered along, he looked neither to the right nor to the left. He fancied his pose was one he had observed most seasoned subway travelers assume.

The train rolled to a stop, and in the brief interval of quiet the man next to him held out a Sunday magazine section.

Wonderful picture, he said, pointing to a colored cover portrait.

The newcomer finally mumbled agreement. The train got under way and the noise was excuse enough to break off the conversation. And then the transplanted Midwesterner mused:

"Who am I to be indifferent toward anyone with a desire to talk? It wasn't that way back home."

He realized how his response to this kindly gentleman had been the very thing which in New York people had bothered him no end.

The train was slowing down again. The transplanted Midwesterner looked at the magazine cover. Yes, it was a good picture. He expressed the opinion a couple of times, in an effort to show appreciation of a fellow passenger's efforts to be friendly.

THE older man shifted the conversation.

"Do you know if we have passed that junction out here?" he asked.

The newcomer never had heard of the junction, but wouldn't admit it.

"Well, it doesn't make much difference. I can always ride back."

"You're new in New York?" queried the Midwesterner.

"Oh, no. I've lived here 52 years. I just don't keep my bearings like I should. I meant to ask about where to get off. You've got to ask your way around New York. I ask questions almost every time I leave home—even after 52 years. Say, what part of the South are you from?"

THAT was a comedown for a New Yorker of three weeks. Hadn't he got to where he could walk through Times Square, without being singled out by the "rubberneck" bus solicitors?

The old New Yorker had a parting word as the train slowed down for what turned out to be the right junction.

"I could tell by your restless looks your curiosity. You didn't seem too sure of where you were going. We New Yorkers aren't always sure either. Ask questions, young man. Always ask questions. You'll find New York isn't hard to get around in if you ask a question every time you're a bit uncertain. Goodbye."

Whereupon the writer of this column made a detailed report of his travel plans to a subway guard and learned that for 15 minutes he had been getting farther and farther from the place where he was already 20 minutes overdue.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Roosevelt and Lewis Bury Hatchet; Plane Contracts Secret Hereafter

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—The president and mop-browed John L. Lewis have patched up their differences. The CIO chief will make a statement, probably on Saturday when he addresses the convention of the United Federal Workers in Washington, endorsing Roosevelt and urging labor to support him at the polls.

The peace—or truce—was reached at a recent secret White House conference, which required a month of maneuvering by mutual friends to arrange. Lewis was willing, in fact very eager to be invited to call, but Roosevelt definitely was not.

He knew he had the top CIO chiefs and practically every CIO union behind him, so he saw no reason to go out of his way to honey up Lewis. He told the self-appointed intermediaries that Lewis could get a White House appointment any time he wanted it, but he would have to do the asking.

But that was exactly what Lewis did not want to do. In the past, when leaving a White House conference, he has never failed to stress on newsmen that he was invited to call. So he firmly insisted on this face-saver. Roosevelt was equally firm in refusing to grant it.

Kindly, astute Bishop Sheil of Chicago, intimate aide of the late Cardinal Mundelein and a warm friend of both men, finally proposed a compromise: Roosevelt would extend the invitation but Lewis would come informally to the residence part of the White House, not to the executive offices. Thus the meeting would not be covered by newsmen.

This was acceptable and General "Pa" Watson, White House secretary, telephoned Lewis to call on the president at 6 p. m. The talk took place in the Oval Room, the president's study, on the second floor of the White House.

Straight Talk.

BOTH men were friendly, but frank.

Addressing Lewis as "John," Roosevelt said he was willing to let by-gones be by-gones, but that henceforth Lewis should come to him personally whenever he had some complaint to make. Lewis could always get an appointment and there was no need for rhetorical fireworks.

"You and I know, John," the president said, "that in our hearts we both are working for the same thing—the greatest good for the largest number. We don't have to shout at one another. When you have something on your mind, you come direct to me about it. The door is always open."

Lewis agreed there was no reason why they couldn't "get together," and Roosevelt could make a start by doing something about firms getting defense contracts who are hostile to labor. "You can make these big corporations comply with the National Labor Relations Act and other New Deal labor reforms," Lewis said.

"We are doing just that," replied Roosevelt. "In a few days the Defense Commission will officially lay down a set of basic rules that will not only protect labor to the hilt, but also agriculture, the consumer and the taxpayer. These rules were drafted by Sidney Hillman and they are going the whole way." (The rules were sent to congress a few days later.)

"What about such firms as Bethlehem Steel," said Lewis, "one of the worst enemies of labor and the New Deal? Bethlehem has been awarded some of the largest defense contracts."

"Yes, but what can you do?" demanded Roosevelt, in effect. "We've got to have these ships and we have to use the plants available. Bethlehem has received big orders, but it's toeing the mark in meeting the law. Hillman and his Labor Advisory Board are seeing to that."

The president told Lewis that he planned soon to call a national unemployment conference of labor, business and farm leaders. This is a pet scheme of Lewis' and as a conciliatory gesture toward him, it was included as a plank in the Democratic platform. Roosevelt also imparted to Lewis that he expected to re-appoint J. Warren Madden as chairman of the National Labor Relations Board, which Lewis has been strongly urging.

As the two men shook hands, Roosevelt said, "Well, John, we fought shoulder-to-shoulder in 1936 and I hope you'll be in there fighting for us again this year."

"Yes, I'll be on your side," Lewis replied. "The other side has nothing to offer labor. I expect to make a statement on my position in ten days or so."

Note—One big-shot AFL leader who also favors Madden's reappointment is Dan Tobin, head of the teamsters union. Tobin has urged the president to rename the NLRB chairman.

National Defense Letters.

YOU might suppose the army air corps spends all its time preparing the air defense of the country. But a large number of officials and clerks are engaged in the silly business of answering letters from a zealous public full of half-baked ideas.

From Hoople, North Dakota, comes a letter saying, "I have an idea for directing bombs dropped from airplanes. Just tie a carrier pigeon to the bomb and drop it overboard."

The author of this brilliant idea mails five copies from Hoople: one to the air corps, one to the chief of staff, two to his senators, and one to his congressman. But each of these finds its way to the air corps for answer.

As painstakingly as if it were vital in the national defense, the air corps prepares an answer, sends one to the author, and sends letters to each of the four other sources, with copies to the author. And every leter is signed by the chief of air corps, Major General H. H. Arnold (or for him); though he can't take time to read or dictate the replies.

Note—Other ideas proposed to air corps are: to construct a flying submarine, to drop pebbles on the enemy, and to create an artificial fog over London.

Secret Contracts.

THE public is not going to get any more information about airplane contracts let by the war department. The army is putting the lid on as a military precaution.

Inside fact is that news of recent contracts was released only to offset the impression that the work was not getting ahead. Secretary of War Stimson had stated on August 9 that contracts had been let for only 33 planes of the 4,000 authorized in June.

Just a month later, September 10, the war department released figures that told a different story. Instead of 33, the number of planes contracted for was 2,797.

These figures were put out to reassure the public. But from now on there will be no talking. The war department is following the lead of General Marshall, who says, "You can't play poker with everybody looking at your hand."

This Is Ohio

OHIO is the leading state in the Union in the manufacture of electrical machinery, apparatus and supplies. In 1937, nearly 35,000 wage earners were employed in turning out products valued at $234,000,000. The industry includes the manufacture of machinery, apparatus, and supplies for use in the generation, storage and transmission of electricity as well as the use of energy.

In addition to well-known electrical appliances manufactured in Ohio, plants in the Buckeye state make a large share of such products as insulating material, motors, cable and wire. Illinois and Pennsylvania rank second and third respectively in this field.

A Farmer's Diary

Yellow Jackets

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I PAUSED beneath my neighbor's plum tree and tasted a plum. It was very sweet. The dark skinned fruit had bursted after the last heavy rain and sweet juice oozed forth from the side, or the stem end. I counted 20 yellow jackets on as many plums.

"Is there a yellow jackets' nest somewhere around here?" I asked the farmer.

"Yes—and I know right well where," he answered, and showed me his arm with a heavy swelling on the back, a similar place on his neck and another on his grimy, sockless shank. All the swollen places had hard white markings in the center. "They got into my shoes and down my open shirt and even in my hair," he said. "I was plowing yonder and right in a sandy knoll the plow gouged deeper.

"The first time around I didn't see a thing but on the second round they was waitin' for me. Some weeds had got tangled up in the plow and I was watchin' that when all at once the team stopped and began to paw and groan. Then they kicked until the evener jingled. They wouldn't move an inch until I took the long end of the lines and whaled 'em. When they started they ran nigh a half mile around the field I got 'em stopped and went to their heads and picked the devils off by hand, pinching 'em to death between my thumb and finger. Gosh, what a smell! Ever smell a hornet—they're terrific!" He shook his head at the recollection.

"They were stickin' under the bellies too, and the team was feelin' sick, so I unhitched and put 'em in the barn. I felt dizzy myself and I just laid down on the grass and moaned I couldn't help it. This mornin' both horses was covered with little lumps—and you see what I've got!"

"I'd like to see the nest," I said.

"Well, you're welcome." He directed me exactly and I found the nest of the yellow jackets in the southern portion of the nest. I was there at sunset and most of the colony was in. I went close enough to see that the ten-inch slice the plow had made did not reach the bottom of the cavity.

A hole was at this open side about as large as my thumb. (I did not go near enough to measure.) Four inches over from the furrow's edge, another hole was seen where wasps were going in and out. I suggested to my neighbor that we place open jugs half full of water just outside the openings, so that when the insects flew across the jug, the buzzing sond would attract them and they would drop in and drown. As boys, my brothers and I have caught bumblebees in that manner.

But while he sympathized with my desire to take the nest for study, he suggested with mild finality that we would wait until some frosty morning in October when the wasps would not be so quarrelsome.

OPEN BIDS ON TWO PROJECTS

Commissioners to Get Prices on Courthouse Elevator, County Dog Pound.

Richland county commissioners were scheduled to open bids today on the construction of an elevator in the courthouse and a county dog pound at the fairground.

Cost of the elevator was estimated at $15,000, while it is expected the dog pound will cost approximately $1,500.

Installation of the courthouse elevator has been sought by Mansfield attorneys for several years. The cost will be paid from the county general fund without the aid of a federal project.

The elevator will be the first step in a general remodeling program at the courthouse which will include the closing of unnecessary corridors and making them into office rooms and the removal of the huge stone entrance at the west side of the building.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

Middle-sized readers with an eye for adventures should remember these books. Both of the stories are about the eventful summer vacations of young children. The first is easy to read and has large print. The other is a girl's story about two girls who are eleven.

TWO AND TWO ARE FOUR, by Carolyn Haywood—From their pictures on the front cover until they board the train at the end these four children have real adventures. Teddy and Babs first lived in an apartment in the city, but one summer they moved to a farm. That was a much finer place to play and before long twins came to visit the Perkins who lived across the street. Then two and two were four. What happened then can best be learned by reading the story.

HEEDLESS SUSAN, by Emma L. Brock—Susan sometimes forgot to remember, but when she was eleven she was careful enough to be trusted to go alone by train to Grandmother's. There she played with Bessie who always remembered everything. The two girls played together doing many different things like visiting a haunted house, and attending a circus. Most of all they wanted to be bridesmaids and they even arranged that.

CAROL, EDWARD WALKED ROYAL ROMANCE ROAD

Rumanian and British Crowns Placed on Line as Kings Sought Love Life.

Editor's Note: Here follows the second article in a series on the fantastic career of ex-King Carol of Rumania. This tells among other things, the story of his marriage to the buxom daughter of an army colonel and how they were separated by his father.

By ROGER D. GREENE

NEW YORK—(AP)—The romance of ex-King Carol II of Rumania and his commoner sweetheart, Magda Lupescu, in many ways strangely parallels the love drama of ex-King Edward VIII and Wallis Warfield.

Both women were divorcees.

Both figured in the changes of royal crowns.

Both offered to surrender their love to save the throne.

And both, eventually, won.

Like Edward, Carol was headstrong. Each was a headliner Prince Charming. And Carol also renounced his throne, though the circumstances were different, and left with "the woman I love."

By coincidence, Carol and Magda last week even spent the night in the same suite of hotel rooms in Barcelona, Spain, which were occupied by the Duke and the Duchess of Windsor in their flight from war-ravaged France last summer.

It was in the late 1920's that Magda reportedly became remorseful over keeping Carol from his throne and offered to give him up.

Carol's first romantic escapade came in August, 1916, when Rumania entered the World war and the 22-year-old crown prince commanded a regiment.

Driven back into Moldavia by the Germans, Carol and his troops camped at the town of Jassey, where he met the buxom daughter of a Rumanian army colonel, Jeanne "Zizi" Lamberino, and fell violently in love.

Leaving his regiment, Carol eloped with "Zizi" to Odessa, Russia, where they were married at the orthodox church.

The elopement was a bitter blow to Carol's mother, Queen Marie, who dreamed of a great union of dynasties through marriages of state.

As Carol's prospective bride she had already chosen the Grand Duchess Olga of Russia, who later was massacred by Bolsheviks with the rest of the imperial Romanoff family at Ekaterinberg.

Royal influence quickly had the Rumania high court of justice declare the marriage null and void, and Carol was clapped into a monastery for 75 days to reconsider.

But the stubborn prince refused to yield.

While friends contrived to smuggle notes from the monsastery to "Zizi," Carol manifested alarming signs of despondency and failing health until his father, King Ferdinand, relented enough to permit him to see "Zizi."

Curiously enough, Carol was only following the example of his father 30 years earlier when Ferdinand fell in love with a beautiful commoner, Elena Vacaresco, and remained with her for three years despite parental displeasure.

Carol insisted that he wanted to renounce his status as heir apparent, and in 1919 when "Zizi" was about to have a child and King Ferdinand ordered a world tour for Carol, the prince promptly shot himself in the leg.

The child, a boy named Mircea, was born Jan. 8, 1920, and when the official registered omitted mention of the boy's paternity, Carol wrote "Zizi" a letter acknowledging his parenthood.

Except for clandestine meetings, they still were separated.

"I love and adore you, Zizi," he wrote, "I desire you eternally, and this separation, forced by my mother, burns into my heart. A thousand kisses."

Under increasing pressure by Queen Marie, however, Carol consented to a globe-girdling trip in 1920, stopping off in the United States for two weeks. When he returned, he found every detail had been arranged, without his knowledge, for his marriage to the classically beautiful Princess Elena of Greece.

Amid glittering pomp and pageantry, Carol and Helen (as Elena became known) were married in Athens, Greece, on March 10, 1921.

On Oct. 25, 1921, a son, Mihai, was born—and Carol, having fulfilled his "duty" of providing a royal heir to the succession, soon returned to "Zizi," the colonel's daughter.

But before long, it was the hapless "Zizi's turn to weep as she stared dully at another letter from the errant prince:

"Forget. The charm is broken. I love my country more than you." A new star had risen in the orbit of Carol's tangled love life. . . .

'FIRE AND THE WOOD' ON NEW LIBRARY LISTS

Novel by Hutchinson Tells Story of German-Jewish Doctor and Nazi Rule.

New on the shelves at the Mansfield Public library is a novel by R. C Hutchinson, "The Fire and the Wood," which tells the story of a young German-Jewish doctor in the years just before and after the Nazi rise to power in Germany. Thomas Mann's latest novel, "The Beloved Returns," dealing with the Lotte of Goethe's "Sorrows of Werther" has just been translated into English and now is available at the library.

Among the new non-fiction books is an analysis of the supreme political office of the United States by Harold J. Laski, entitled, "American Presidency." William Henry Jackson, pioneer photographer, has told the story of his life in "Time Exposure," which deals with early photography.

IF IT PROVE FAIR WEATHER, written by Isabel Paterson, the author of the popular column, Turns with a Bookworm (New York Herald Tribune Books), is a psychologically developed love story in which the author demonstrates the way two special people feel about each other and how it makes them behave to each other.

OTHER FICTION.

LISTENING POST by Seeley; TOO DEAR FOR MY POSSESSING, Johnson; LINE-UP, by Street

NEW NON-FICTION includes: THE ARKANSAS, written by Clyde Brion Davis and illustrated by Donald McKay is another in the Rivers of America series. Four centuries of colorful history along the Arkansas river, from French explorers to the Arkansas sharecroppers are packed with action. Beginning in the Rockies and passing though Colorado, Kansas Oklahoma, and Arkansas before meeting the Mississippi, the river was the scene of gold rushes, violence, overnight booms and disintegration, cattle raising, struggles for land, oil strikes, slavery, and carpetbaggers.

TIME EXPOSURE the autobiography of William Henry Jackson, pioneer photographer, is the story of a boy in upstate New York during the fifties; of a Union soldier's adventures, of the Great Plains before a railroad spanned the continent, and of Indians in the Southwest. It is the story of the unexplored Yellowstone, and how Mr. Jackson's photographs caused Congress to set aside that region as our first national park At 97 the author still paints and sketches; still gives lectures and after-dinner speeches

FINANCING GOVERNMENT by Harold M. Groves is a clear and factual exposition of the principles, practices, and problems of public finance. Intended for the intelligent lay reader, the volume clarifies one of the most vital questions of today—what it costs to be a citizen and why taxes are levied as they are.

Others on this list: ABSTRACT DESIGN by Fenn;

WHY FARMERS ARE POOR, Rochester.

M DAY by Chrene;

AIRCRAFT BLUEPRINT READING, Almen and Mead,

SUES RAILROAD

The Erie Railroad company had been named defendant today in a $1,000 damage suit filed in common pleas court by Donald Coffey whose truck was demolished by a train at the North Main street crossing last Jan. 30.

Coffey contends that a watchman at the crossing did not warn his driver in time to prevent the truck from being driven onto the crossing in front of the train. The driver jumped and escaped injury. Atty. H. H. Schettler represents Coffey in the action.

HOUSE GAINED.

TUCSON, Ariz. —(U P)— Just to make sure of the boundaries of some vacant property he owned Oscar G. Forman ordered a survey made. The survey developed that there was a house on the property Forman is asking the courts to decide how it got there and to whom it belongs.

CLAIMS WILLKIE WILL COMPLY WITH HATCH ACT

Root Tells Senate Committee Nominee Will Stay Within $3,000,000 Limitation.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Oren Root, jr., chairman of the Willkie clubs of America, told the senate campaign investigating committee today it can rest assured that the Republican presidential nominee will comply with the $3,000,000 federal limitation of national campaign funds. Root defended the Willkie clubs against allegations that they are operating in violation of the Hatch "clean politics" act.

In answer to charges that Republican campaign funds may exceed the $3,000,000 provision of the Hatch act, Root explained that regardless of the source of the funds, Willkie himself will see to it that the Republican national committee stays within the law.

Committee members showed concern over what they described as "independent" sources of funds, the Republican national committee, the Willkie clubs, and a magazine advertising campaign headed by John Orr Young, of New York.

They said that with these organizations allegedly operating independently of each other there would be no check on the amount of funds raised, and that they might easily exceed the provisions of the Hatch act.

Root told the committee that Willkie had limited his organization to the raising of $1,000,000, and that he assumed that Willkie had also placed limitations on the other sources of campaign funds to stay within the act.

INDICTED

Licavoli Brother Charged With Conspiracy at Toledo.

TOLEDO—(AP)—Pete Licavoli, Detroit music box promoter and brother of Thomas (Yonnie) Licavoli, one time leader of the Toledo underworld, was under indictment here today.

He was named jointly with Herman Blumberg and Leo Stein, both of Detroit, in a 12-count indictment charging conspiracy to commit one felony and two misdemeanors.

All 12 counts were in the alleged attempts of Blumberg and Stein to persuade Harry Craig and Robert Schwaite, key witnesses in the murder trial of Yonnie Licavoli, to change their testimony. The state contends the trio sought to effect the release of Yonnie Licavoli, who is serving life in Ohio penitentiary.

Domestic, Foreign Conditions Topic Of Talk to Clubs

At a joint meeting of the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs yesterday at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, Phil S. Hanna, editor of the Chicago Journal of Commerce, spoke on present domestic and foreign conditions. He placed special emphasis on the importance of continuing normal peace-time production of commodities designed for comfort and convenience, so as to meet the costs of defense materials.

It is not the resources of the British Isles that Hitler is after, Hanna asserted in speaking of the present assault on London, "but an attempt to break down British character—and that can never be done."

Character, the speaker continued, is a great need in America at this time, coupling this with a plea that there be no sacrifices of principles to expediency.

Hanna on Wednesday evening gave an address along similar lines at a meeting of Group Six of the Ohio Bankers' association.

Kiwanian Paul M. Eliot was program chairman at the joint meeting.

SOUTHERN PINE HELPS DEFENSE

NEW ORLEANS — (U.P.) — The South's vast reservoirs of pine are going to be tapped for the national defense program.

H. C. Berckes, secretary-manager of the Southern Pine Association, says 40 army and navy projects already approved by congress will require 400,000,000 feet of pine lumber. Two-thirds of these projects are situated in the South, according to Berckes.

The S.P.A. has made surveys to determine the potentialities of the Southern lumber regions, stocks on hand at the mills, and mill capacities.

Troop housing, barracks, mess halls and cantonments are some of the uses for which new lumber will soon be in demand, Berckes says.

Sixty per cent of the acreage of Uruguay is devoted to stock raising.

Plan to Present Movie-Reviews at Ohio This Season

Representatives of more than half of the leading study clubs and philanthropic organizations in Mansfield met in the Ohio theater building last night with William Dworski, manager of the Ohio theater, to arrange for a series of four afternoon book reviews to be followed by movies to be given at the Ohio.

Mrs. Robert Black, vice president and ways and means chairman of the Dental Clinic association, was named chairman of the drive, and the club leaders agreed that profits of the sale of tickets for the reviews would be contributed to the support of the clinic.

A committee of ten women will be appointed in the near future to contact all clubs and organizaitons for support of the project. The dates chosen for the reviews and movies, which will be open to the public, are Oct. 16 and 30, Nov. 6 and 27. Tentative arrangements have been made to bring Dorothy Fuldheim and Joseph Remenyi, both of Cleveland, here. The names of all four reviewers will be announced soon.

Tickets for the series will be sold in books of four at the regular movie admission price. In a few weeks tickets will be available from members of the clubs, the clinic and representatives. Details will be announced later.

Informally Speaking...

By MARIANNE

AS YOU would naturally expect along about this time of the year, most of today's news is about college students . . . This is an especially important September for Richard C. Nye, because he's enrolling in the graduate school of business administration at Harvard university. . . . He was graduated from Ohio university in June and spent the summer at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Nye, before going to Boston, Mass., this week.

Some other residents of our town also are in the east now. . . . Marion Grudier has gone back to the Syracuse university in Syracuse, N. Y. to resume her duties as an English instructor. . . . She was in Mansfield for the summer, visiting with her mother, Mrs. Helen L. Grudier. . . . Another Mansfield girl at Syracuse university this year is Virginia Balyeat, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Balyeat. . . . She's enrolled as a freshman.

Earlier this week three young Mansfield boys went out to Culver, Ind. for another year's training at the Culver Military academy. . . . They are Jack and Dick Schettler, sons of Dr. and Mrs. O. H. Schettler, and Jack Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Parker. . . . And Dick is no little excited, because he's going to be a cheerleader this fall.

* * *

Now that they've seen two of their sons, Ed and Bill, jr., off for college, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Seiler are planning to leave soon for their winter home in West Palm Beach, Fla. . . . Ed has returned to Purdue university, where he will be a sophomore. . . . He's taking aeronautical engineering, you know. . . . Bill, jr., has gone down to Gambier to enter Kenyon college as a freshman in the premedical course. . . . The Seiler's other son, Justin, will spend the winter here with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Nail.

CLASSES are beginning at Sweet Briar college down in Sweet Briar, Va., today, and among the freshmen is a Mansfield girl, Katherine Steil. . . . The formal opening of the college's 35th academic year was held at a convocation in the college chapel last evening, so activities there are really under way now. . . . Katherine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto D. Steil.

* * *

Even though we wholly approve of their choice of schools, we're glad that not all of the city's collegians decided to go so far from home to study this year, because we stand a better chance of seeing those who are nearby a little more often. . . . Dorothy Pearson, who is the daughter of Mrs. Zella Pearson, left this week to enroll as a freshman at Marietta college. . . . Marguerite Miller (whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Otis Miller and Merle Abele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Abele, have gone down to Athens, where they're sophomores at Ohio university. . . . Merle is a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority there, and Marguerite, who's studying dramatics, is a pledge o fthe same social group. . . . Another departing student is Kennagene Vermillya, who's leaving Sunday for Delaware, where she will be a freshman at Ohio Wesleyan university.

* * *

MR. and Mrs. Walter C. Beckley left today for Boston, Mass. They'll attend the national convention of the American Legion and its auxiliary there this coming week. . . . Mrs. Beckley, a member of the national executive committee for Ohio, is a delegate-at-large to the auxiliary sessions, and Mr. Beckley is an alternate for the Fifth district to the Legion meetings. . . . Following their stay in Boston, the Beckleys are planning to drive to New York City with Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Gardner (who also are at the convention, following a trip to Washington, D. C.) . . . They'll be stopping at the Hotel New Yorker, and of course, visiting the World fair before returning home in about ten days. . . . Mrs. Robert Quinn and her daughter, Nancy, are here from Birmingham, Ala., now visiting with Mrs. Quinn's mother, Mrs. Rufus King, and her sister, Martha.

How To Stop Squealing Spells

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

"DEAR Dr. Myers: "My daughter is a year and eight months old. My problem with her is that she squeals at the top of her lungs for everything and anything. Ignoring her did no good. It made me lose my temper several times, as she would scream until she got what she wanted, and I'd slap her hands and try to break her o fit. This did no good. Now when I try to carry her into the house from out of doors, where she prefers to be, she screams and hits me with her little hand

"In all else she is a model child. understands everything and is tractible and gentle My friends would never believe she had a fault. Therefore, I feel that I'm the one who's responsible for any bad trait she might have. Kindly advise me about my behavior toward her in this squealing streak she has and I'll be forever grateful.

"I'm a constant reader of your articles. I clip them for the reference of my friends who also have little children. I enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope."

"How vividly you write No one would doubt that you are trying to do your very best, and I don't believe your problem is nearly so serious as you suppose it is

"If when you feel relaxed, you will think over the matter, you will see that in such cases as you have described so clearly you will have no occasion to punish the child or to feel angry at her; that to punish her then would not be effective, as you already have discovered.

"Just work on yourself Expect her to cry and squeal for what she wants, only do not let her have what she cries and squeals for. Plan just what she must not have, and manage yourself so you won't let her have it. Once you are sure about your plans, her crying and squealing won't make you nervous. We parents don't get nervous over what we know the child will naturally do. Looking at it this way, you will find that your vexation at your little child will wane or wholly disappear.

"To this end you will feel more poised if you get more rest and relaxation. Leave the babw with Dad now and then and get away for some recreation. Better still if you can have some reliable person care for this child so you and Dad can go away from home occasionally for some fun together.

"Sing lullabies, say nursery rhymes and read, to her. I have marked some books on the enclosure good to begin with.

"Patiently try to get her to come indoors without resistance. If you must bring her in bodily, begin at once to talk of something very precious to her, or of the story you are going to read when you get into the house. Answer all her questions always Listen patiently to what she has to say. Show great interest in her crudest play and creations. And good luck."

It is a good time now for us to pray for poise and guidance in the bringing up of our children. To this end I have written a Parent's Prayer for myself. You may have a copy of it by writing me at 235 E. 45th Street, N. Y City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

HOROSCOPE

SWIFT-MOVING events, with all manner of activities moving under high-pressure, is the prognostication based on very interesting planetary conditions. Under such highly-stimulated forces, backed up by keen, virile creative intellectual powers, and intuitive vision, it would be wise to push for high goals, through engineering new projects. The newer, novel, inventive, perhaps revolutionary ideas, tactics and methods employed in such ventures are bound to meet conspicuous success. Work for fruition of bold ambitions with audacity but not eccentricity. Big business cooperates, welcoming constructive change.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of signal success, with productive and progressive fulfillments that are to materialize "in a big way." Initiative, daring, originality, with sudden and devastating shattering of old things outgrown and effete ways and means, making way for rebuilding on fresh foundations, systems and ideals. The old order passeth, under thunderbolts of progressive prods of major scope and purpose, with forces and facilities vividly stimulated and possibly inspired. Financial promotion awaits just such innovations. Be not however carried away by the novelty and vastness of events by erratic indulgences.

A child born on this day should have a full equipment of capabilities, powers, initiative, inspiration and audacity to accomplishment of many reforms, progressions, innovations and extraordinary adventures. This may materialize in a science, invention, discovery, social science, drama, art, or romance.

Sister Mary Alberta of the Order of Triniterian Sisters, who teaches at St. Rocco's in Cleveland, and seven other nuns of the same order will be the guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Mollica, 324 West Sixth street. Sister Mary Alberta is Mrs. Mollica's sister.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"I'M AFRAID SO," I said despondently, with the memory of Edith's emotional outbursts freshly before me. "But she's quiet now. Miss Whitlock gave her something pretty powerful, I amagine, about ten minutes ago. She'll be all right now. I'm sure, at least until we get her downstairs."

I turned to go back to my room, but Lillian put out a swift hand and clutched my arm.

"Look here!" she said militantly "Does this mean you're going to help Miss Whitlock take Ede downstairs?"

"Of course," I answered, "but I'm sure there isn't the slightest danger. Edith seems in a most tractable mood"

For answer Lillian took me by the shoulders, and swung me around facing her.

"Look me straight in the eyes!" she commanded, "and tell me, if you dare, that La Fairfax didn't express a yen to see you alone."

"Yes, she did," I admitted reluctantly, and keeping one hand upon my shoulder, she spread the other in a sweeping gesture toward Katherine

"You see!" she said, then she turned back to me with so piercing a look in her eyes that I felt as if she were gimleting my soul

"If you only had the gumption to look after yourself the way you look after other people," she lamented. "But you haven't even a thimbleful of caution where your own safety is concerned, so it's clearly up to Katrina and me to take over."

She paused for breath, then shook a militant fist close to my nose.

"You've expressed my sentiments exactly," Katherine supplemented

"Do you get us?" Lillian asked me truculently.

"Perfectly," I told her, smiling at her vehemence, "and I shall be most careful."

I paused before my door, with a vanishing of the momentary lift of spirits Lillian's foolery and her militant precautions for my safety had given me. I felt for a panic-stricken moment that I could not face again the problem that lay behind that closed door Then with the remembrance that it was my problem more than that of anyone else, except perhaps Dicky, and that I ought to be ashamed to shift it to any other shoulders, I braced myself to meet whatever should develop, and, opening the door, went back into my room.

It was exactly as I had left it. Edith still lay quiescent, with closed eyes, and did not move a muscle at my entrance. Miss Whitlock stood by the bed quietly watching her, and I spoke casually

"The luggage will be at the door of the study within five minutes of our arrival there," I said, carefully omitting to name the people who would carry it down

"Good!" she said, and picking up Edith's hose and slippers, went to the side of the bed.

"Don't sit up yet," she said. Just put your feet out of bed. Mrs Graham and I will be your maids this morning"

THE OTHER MAN'S GAME

IN WARFARE, in the boxing ring, or any other kind of contest, it is an accepted rule of winning tactics to refuse to 'play the other man's game." If Gene Tunney had tried to slug with Dempsey instead of out-boxing him, he would have been committing this greatest mistake a pugilist can make. It would have been no worse, however, than the pitiful efforts of some players to outguess a shrewd psychic bidder The best way to deal with such fellows, unless you are a deep student of psychics yourself, is to try to tell your partner the exact truth about your hand, as closely as possible, in order to show up the psycher.

North in this rubber game knew West as an inveterate psychic addict, and a shrewd one He had "fixed" poor North so often that the latter decided now was the time to get even with him So he made a "trap pass," hoping to see his opponents get into a peck of trouble. East could not be censured especially for his pass, even with that six-card suit, when he had three clubs and was so devoid of useful honors.

South's pass was the blow. Obviously, he should have bid 1-Diamond, in order to protect a possible sizeable pass by his partner But he reckoned his hand was barely about average in strength and fearing stirring up East and West into finding a major suit fit, probably in spades

The play was a joke. North ran all of his clubs and his two high hearts, then led a diamond to South, who took the rest of the tricks For the laydown grand slam, made defensively, the side got only 350 points, whereas over 2 000 were in the cards. If North had doubled, the small slam at least would have been reached

Boost Ohio Draft Registration Estimate to 859,000

STATE DUE TO SEND 24,000 MEN TO CAMP

Arrangements Being Pushed For Examination of National Guardsmen For Duty.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—The federal census bureau estimated today that 859,000 Ohio men in the age range of 21 to 35, inclusive will be required to register for compulsory military service on Oct. 16.

The estimates prepared for the army, navy and defense commission boosted the Ohio total which previously had been unofficially estimated at about 680,000 men.

On the basis of these figures rough estimates placed the Ohio draft quota at between 23,000 and 24,000 men. The quota is reduced by one for each man the state now has in the military service, but Ohio's share of men in the services at present is low and may not cut the quota appreciably.

The adjutant general's office explained that Ohio National guardsmen called to federal service actually will not entrain for Camp Shelby, Miss., where they will be stationed, until about Nov. 15. The intervening period will be given over to assembly, medical examination and other details.

Adjutant General Gilson D. Light has estimated that some 9,500 men will be affected in the guard order.

Mobilization points have not yet been approved by the army Fifth corps headquarters.

A tentative plan calls for the troops to assemble at Columbus, Cleveland, Cincinnati and Camp Perry.

The war department yesterday allocated funds for the completion of 11 camp projects to accommodate 116,000 National guardsmen.

One of these projects was Camp Shelby, Miss., where Ohio's 37th division will enter training this fall. The army several weeks ago authorized an expenditure of $3,300,000 for tents and other facilities at Shelby. The new allocation, which officials declined to disclose exactly, will equip the camp to accommodate 52,000 men.

Wooden sewer and water lines installed at Camp Shelby during the World war are still serviceable, officials said.

Coughlin Drops Plans of Weekly Radio Series

DETROIT — (AP) — The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin has abandoned his plan for a new series of weekly radio talks, which had been scheduled to open on Sunday, Oct. 20.

In an interview in the current issue of "Social Justice," the priest charged that "men powerful in the field of radio and other activities" had "forced the decision upon me."

The article said that in response to Father Coughlin's petition for a half hour of time every Sunday for a year, most of the large stations declined "for various reasons," although many small stations accepted.

Father Coughlin was quoted as saying he would not participate in the presidential campaign.

Officials of Lumbermens Mutual Insurance company were conspicuous this week at the 45th annual convention of the national association of mutual fire insurance companies which was held in Cincinnati and drew more than 1,500 insurance men. G. Kegg, secretary, and Leonard H. Jones, public relations director.

Bus Driver Robert Arras took plenty of razzing from the occupants of his bus yesterday afternoon. While driving down Mulberry street, Arras noticed a car point its nose out into the street from Library court, then back up and come out into the street again. Arras blew his horn indignantly and, later, much to his amazement, he discovered that there was no one in the car. The automobile had apparently coasted out of a parking space and was rocking gently back and forth on a small incline.

That "fog horn" that roused Mansfielders from their slumbers before daylight this morning was on a new Diesel streamlined locomotive traveling west on the Erie railroad. The locomotive, which resembled those used on the fast western trains, was yellow and red and sounded like an airplane as it climbed the grade west of the city. It was pulling four freight cars and apparently was on a trial run, although Erie agents here were puzzled about the train since it didn't stop in Mansfield. It returned east later in the morning.

For mental poise you've got to hand it to the colored woman who lost a chicken in Central park yesterday. She sauntered through the park with a white chicken under her arm. Suddenly, the bird let out a squawk and made a break for liberty, and there was nothing for the woman to do but chase it. She ran, clucking to the "chickie" and finally cornered it in a clump of shrubbery. Recovering it, she tucked it under her arm again, this time more securely, and continued her homeward jaunt with nary a sign of embarrassment.

TWO PETITION SIGNERS JAILED

Charged With Contempt as They Refuse To Answer Communist Queries.

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS — (AP) — After spending a night in jail, two witnesses today agreed to answer questions of a Franklin county grand jury investigating reported irregularities in the circulation of petitions to qualify the Communist party for the Nov. 5 election.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — (AP)— With two witnesses in jail for refusing to answer questions, the Franklin county grand jury today continued its probe of asserted irregularities in the circulation of Communist party nominating petitions.

Judge Edward C. Turner of common pleas court ordered Donald Rodgers, 27, and his wife, Esther, 26, to jail "until they answer certain questions."

The jurist indicated that the couple refused to discuss the circulation of petitions. Imposing the jail sentence for contempt of court, Judge Turner asserteid that the grand jury could indict the pair if it so desired.

Mrs. Rodgers charged that the inquiry was instituted for "political reasons." Rodgers declined to state his motive for remaining silent b fore the jury.

The investigation was ordered by Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett after numerous signers of Communist party petitions asserted that the petitions were misrepresented to them. Many asked that their names be removed.

The petitions were designd to place Communist party candidates on the November election ballot.

SEES 33,000 PLANES IN YEAR

Knudsen Forecasts Outpu for Period Beginning July 1.

NEW YORK — (NS) —National Defense Commissioner William S. Knudsen today forecast an American production of 33,000 planes of all types between July 1, 1940, and April 1, 1942.

Knudsen, charged with the supervision of national defense production, made his forecast in an address before the U. S. conference of mayors.

The planned plane production, he said, already has been allotted among American producers although the allotment "is not perfected as yet."

AUTOS COLLIDE

An accident involving an automobile driven by Etta B. Neely, 44, of Bucyrus, and one driven by Robert R. Elmore, 17, of Crestline, on Route 30S just east of Galion was reported today by the highway patrol.

Highway patrolmen said both cars were traveling east and that the Neely automobile struck the back end of Elmore's vehicle. Neither occupant was injured. Both cars were slightly damaged, patrolmen said.

TWO MORE MEMBERS OF MURDER RING AWAIT DEATH ROW WALK

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Harry (Pittsburgh Phil) Strauss, who murdered 28 men, and Martin (Buggsy) Goldstein, who murdered three and who boasted a year ago that he deserved a better rating than "public enemy No. 6," today awaited their trip to death row in Sing Sing prison.

A jury found them guilty of one of their many crimes last evening in the second of the trials of members of Murder, Inc., a Brooklyn mob believed to have slain at least 83 persons. The jury made no recommendations for mercy, making it mandatory for Judge John J. Fitzgerald to sentence them to death.

In Sing Sing, they will join Harry (Happy) Maione and Frank (The Dasher) Abbandando, two more of the mob's executioners awaiting their turns in the electric chair.

Strauss, once the dude, babbled, chewed mouthfuls of paper and gave the clerk a vacant stare when asked for his pedigree. The prosecutor said he was just feigning insanity. Goldstein, the braggart, screamed for mercy, tried to make a speech to the jury, and when a bailiff silenced him, he shouted: "Don't I deserve a chance to say one little word before I die?" Hustled past the jury box he yelled: "Thank you gentlemen of the jury. On that testimony, that was the only verdict you could bring in."

They were convicted of strangling Irving (Puggy) Feinstein and burning his body. Feinstein, a bookmaker, had incurred the displeasure of Albert Anastasia, fugitive leader of a Brooklyn waterfront mob. Anastasia engaged the services of Murder, Inc., which worked on a fee basis, to get rid of Feinstein.

A score of other members and accomplices of the mob await trial, among them are (Kid Twist) Reles, a state's witness, named as the leader and who has confessed 11 murders.

EXAMINER SAYS $5,610 DUE IN TUITION FEES

Sharon District Indebted To City Schools; Purchases of Milk Hit.

Findings totaling $6,785, including $5,610 in unpaid tution, had been returned today following an examination of the books of the Shelby board of education by the state bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices.

The finding for tuition was against the Sharon township school district which the examiner found owes the Shelby board for sending pupils to Shelby schools during the period from April 1, 1939 to June 2, 1939, and from Sept. 5, 1939 to June 1, 1940.

A finding for $841, covering illegal purchases from the Shelby Pure Milk company, was returned against Homer Robinson, a board member; Herbert M. Davis, an employe of the Pure Milk company, and H. M. Davis, also affiliated with the milk company.

The examiner pointed out that the purchases were illegal because Robinson is part owner of the Pure Milk company and cannot legally sell to the board of education as long as he is a member of the board.

In a similar case, an $84 finding was returned against the Shelby Sales Book company for merchandise sold to the schools. It was pointed out that Dr. E. D. Dowds, H. L. Robinson, and L. N. Hoffman, board members, are also stockholders in the Sales Book company.

The examiner cited illegal expenditures totaling $10,765 for building improvements, explaining that contracts amounting to more than $3,000 were let without the process of advertising for bids, contrary to the state law.

Of the total findings, $223 has been repaid.

Records of the Marvin Memorial library in Shelby were also inspected and, except for two minor errors for a total of $4.62, were found in good shape. One dollar of the library findings has been paid.

The examinations were made by State Examiner Lura Pelley who recently submitted a report covering an inspection of the Richland county rural school accounts.

Mansfield In Test Against Veteran Cambridge Team

Tygers Might Rely on Aerial Attack Tonight

Only One Change Expected In Lineup In Contest at Stadium Field.

By CHARLES MARTIN, News-Journal Sports Editor.

OUT after their second straight victory and determined to show their followers a better brand of football, the Mansfield high Tygers today await the invasion of Cambridge high under the arcs at 8 p. m. at Stadium field.

Certain they can turn in a more impressive performance, Coach Paul Snyder's proteges will be "shooting the works" tonight in an effort to chalk up a one-sided victory.

* * *

Relying on their speed to offset the weight advantage held by the Cambridge combine, the Tygers hope to have their passing attack functioning to perfection.

Mansfield completed only one pass last week in the opener against Akron West, but the club has been working hard smoothing out the aerial offense.

Cambridge invades the Tyger lair with a team averaging around the 168-mark, but the club is reported to be slow Last week the Brownies failed to show much power in losing a 32 to 7 decision to Parkersburg, W. Va.

Among the Cambridge backs the Tygers will have to watch closely tonight are Frank Collert and Art Medley. Collert is a brilliant defensive fullback, while Medley, who played an end position last season, is a triple threat man.

Collert can also handle the passing assignment Both lads tip the Toledos at 174-175

It is likely that Snyder's gridders will concentrate on the center of the Cambridge line some of the time The guard and center positions of the Brownie forward wall are reported to be the team's weakest spots.

The Tyger backfield tonight will consist of Jim Doolittle and ElRoy "Lightning" Jones at the halfback posts, Martin Henke at fullback and either Adam Brandt or Jim Templeton at the quarterback berth.

The only chance in the forward wall will see Bob Lantz, regular blocking back, replacing John Webel at a guard berth.

Eagles Bantams Invade Canton For First Game.

The Mansfield Eagle Bantams open their 1940 football schedule in Canton Sunday when they meet the bantam squad of that city. Formerly known as the Adams Bantams, the team this year is being sponsored by the Eagles lodge.

The two teams met last year, each winning a game. The Bantams will help the Cleveland Skippies open their home season Oct. 13 at Cleveland. Hank Richards is coach of the Mansfield team.

Wemcos Annex Initial Tilt

Softball Team Chalks Up Easy 10 to 1 Victory.

The Wemco softball club which has suffered only one defeat this season, continued its winning ways yesterday by swamping the Safety Cab combine 10 to 1 in a benefit game at Liberty park to cop their 19th victory.

The tilt was the first of a three-game benefit series for Gene Yarman, Safety Cab third-baseman who has been ill, and will close with a double-header Sunday afternoon. Place of these games will be announced later.

Opening their scoring spree in the second frame, the Wemcos pushed six runs across the plate in this big inning. They came back in the fourth to add three more tallies and added their final run in the sixth.

A feature of the opening contest was the pitching of two Wemco hurlers, Geiger and Garver, Garver giving up the only hit, a single by Campbell. Between them they issued two bases on balls and struck out five.

Meanwhile the Wemcos were collecting eight hits off Freddie Carver, who issued no walks and struck out one The Cabs lone run came in the fifth frame and was scored by Judy Schaeffer, Wemco shortstop, hit the only homerun of the game.

Rams Weakened for Contest Against New London Team

WITH eight veteran players on the sidelines, greatly weakening their team, the Madison high school Rams will go after their first win of the 1940 football season when they entertain New London high school under the lights at the Rams' field at 8 p. m. today.

The team that Coach Al Fendrick will send against new London's Wildcats tonight will lack eight of the regulars who saw action last Saturday against Wooster high at Wooster in which the Rams took a 38 to 7 beating.

These regulars were dropped from the squad this week, it was revealed yesterday by Fendrick, after it was reported to him that they had stolen salt and pepper shakers and silverware from a Wooster restaurant following last week's game. Names of the players were not disclosed by Fendrick.

Last week New London trounced the Mansfield Junior Varsity 25 to 0 at New London.

* * *

As a preliminary to tonight's game, East Mansfield and Lincoln Heights schools will tangle in the first of the Madison Junior high league games at 6:30 p. m.

Tigers Count on Home Run Hitters In Indian Series

Clubs Tangle In Important Game Today

Detroit Has Ace Hurlers Ready to Face Cleveland Club In Hectic Fight.

By DALE STAFFORD

DETROIT—(AP)—The props were placed and the actors and the audience were ready today for baseball's super-super spectacle of the year—the Cleveland Indians vs. the Detroit Tigers with the American league pennant as the probable prize for the winner

Tied as few teams have ever been in the waning days of a baseball season, the clubs oped a three-game series at Briggs stadium this afternoon

Each team has won 85 games and lost 61 and each club still has eight games left to play. The closeness of the struggle is further illustrated by the fact that the teams have divided 16 games this year.

From the veteran Tigers and the younger Indians came the word that they are well conditioned for the big test Detroit has Louis (Buck) Newsom Lynwood Rowe and Tommy Bridges (three hurlers the Indians haven't beaten this season) ready to work in order Cleveland will retaliate with Mel Harder, Al Milnar and Bobby Feller, Feller, a mystery to other clubs, has been beaten three times by Detroit.

Tiger officials predicted an attendance of between 30,000 and 40,000 today and sellouts of more than 55,000 for Saturday and Sunday

Newsom, the self-appointed spokesman for the Tigers, assured his public that he would take care of the Indians today

"I've pitched against that Cleveland team twice this year and beat 'em both times," Newsom said "As soon as they show up Ol' Bobo will take care of 'em"

Harder, another veteran right-hander, has always been a difficult moundsman for Detroit to hit.

Cleveland has won nine of its last 12 games, and two of the three contests dropped were lost by one run. But the Indians' runs have been few compared with those of the heavy-hitting Tigers, who scored 43 in their last four games.

* * *

The Indians moved here for the crucial test after Southpaw Al Smith's victory over knuckleballer Dutch Leonard gave them a sweep of their three-game series with Washington and a total of 13 wins in 22 games against the Senators this season.

* * *

Cleveland was outhit 8 to 6, but made its blows count and capitalized on a couple of errors, as well

Two Team Affair

American League Title Race Centers on Tigers And Cleveland.

By JUDSON BAILEY

THE fantastic American league pennant struggle reached a new crisis today as the Cleveland Indians and Detroit Tigers came up to their series with each other in an absolute deadlock—85 games won and 61 lost

Also for the first time it was possible to say positively that the conflict has become a two-club contest with nothing counting but their own mortal combat.

The Chicago White Sox have been mathematically eliminated, not by the standings but by the schedule, and the New York Yankees have been pushed to the very brink for the same reason

These are the standings today

Club	W.	L.	Pct.	G.B.	T P
Cleveland.	85	61	582	..	8
Detroit ..	85	61	582	..	8
New York	80	64	556	4	10
Chicago .	79	67	541	6	8

Ordinarily a club four or six games behind could at least hope for the clubs above to lose all their games In this case however the schedule makes that impossible and the only benefit the Yanks or Sox could get would come from Detroit and Cleveland breaking even against each other

That would mean three more games lost for each leader Cleveland still has two games with the St Louis Browns and Detroit two with Chicago If the leaders lost both of these that would leave them in a tie at the finish with 88 games won and 66 lost The White Sox already have lost 67 and therefore are eliminated

If the disaster outlined here should strike both the leaders the Yankees still would have to win 8 out of 10 games to tie Such an outcome is so remote that it might as well be dismissed today and let the dead past bury its dead, including the four-times world champion Yankees

The Tigers are getting too ferocious these days to handle peaceably and they have to be considered favorites for the three-game series on their own field this week-end They massacred the Philadelphia Athletics 13-2 and 10-1 with a couple of secondary pitchers and had Buck Newsom ready to oppose Mel Harder today

In their first game with the As Rookie Floyd Geibell issued eight scattered hits while Detroit got 13, including homers by Hank Greenberg and Rudy York each of whom batted in five runs In the second game Dizzy Trout gave only four hits and the Tigers collected 13 including homers by York and and Pete Fox

This made 17 consecutive games in which Detroit had hit one or more home runs

Cleveland was outhit 8-6 and needed the help of a couple of Washington errors to beat the Senators 3-1 and keep a share of the lead Lefty Al Smith pitched shutout ball except for a home run by Johnny Welaj but it was apparent the Tribe hasn't anything resembling the power of the Tigers

Red Ruffing showed some of his old form in spacing seven hits as the Yanks overpowered the White Sox 10-1 with a 14-hit bombardment The only run he too, gave up was a homer -by Joe Kuhel

The St Louis Browns beat the Boston Red Sox 2-1 on Roy Cullenbine's triple with two on in the seventh

Paul Derringer finally got his coveted 20th victory as the Cincinnati Reds punctured the Phillies 4-1 although outhit (as usual) 7-5 The ace curveballer didn't give a run till the ninth

* * *

The New York Giants' losing streak was extended to 11 games in a pathetic 8-2 performance against the Chicago Cubs, who made 14 hits including homers by Hank Leiber and Stan Hack.

Claude Passeau coasted to his 19th triumph on eight-hit hurling.
